FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

EIU UNITED WAY EXPECTS TO REACH CAMPAIGN GOAL

CHARLESTON, IL.--A successful end is in sight for this year's Eastern Illinois University United Way fund-raising campaign.

Campaign Co-Chairman Jeff Cooley said, based on the results to date--$23,900, which is 95 percent of the $25,000 goal--and on projections that can be made from accounts still outstanding, the 1989-90 United Way campaign will wrapup soon at or possibly over the goal.

George Dycus, president of the Eastern Coles County United Way Board, said, "Our Board appreciates the enthusiasm and dedication displayed by Eastern Illinois University United Way volunteers. Eastern's contribution is very significant to the overall campaign."

Cooley emphasized that the campaign will not end until the goal is reached. "Now more than ever, we need those individuals who have not contributed to get behind the campaign and contribute to this total community effort," Cooley said.

Funds contributed to the campaign will be distributed to 24 area health and human services organizations to fund their programs during 1990. The United Way of Eastern Coles County serves residents of Charleston, Ashmore and Oakland.
